High honor
Davie school's team cracks elite 200 club

By Scott Fishman
STAFF WRITER

The University School speech and debate team recently joined the ranks of the National Forensic League's elite 200 club. The honor is given to local schools that score 200 or more points in a debate tournament in any division. The school earned the honor in its first ever appearance in the tournament. The team has been working hard to achieve this milestone and has already earned a reputation for excellence in the league.

The team's success is due in part to the hard work of its members, who practice for hours each day. The team members are dedicated to their craft and are willing to put in the time and effort it takes to succeed. The team's success is also due to the support of the school, which has provided the team with the resources it needs to succeed. The team's success has also been recognized by the National Forensic League, which has named the team a finalist in the national tournament.

The team's success is not only a source of pride for the school but also for the community. The team's success has inspired others to take up the art of debate and has helped to bring more attention to the school and its offerings. The team's success is a testament to the hard work and dedication of its members and to the support of the school and its community.

---

Debate From Page 1

Davie school's team cracks elite 200 club

By Scott Fishman
STAFF WRITER

The University School speech and debate team recently joined the ranks of the National Forensic League's elite 200 club. The honor is given to local schools that score 200 or more points in a debate tournament in any division. The school earned the honor in its first ever appearance in the tournament. The team has been working hard to achieve this milestone and has already earned a reputation for excellence in the league.

The team's success is due in part to the hard work of its members, who practice for hours each day. The team members are dedicated to their craft and are willing to put in the time and effort it takes to succeed. The team's success is also due to the support of the school, which has provided the team with the resources it needs to succeed. The team's success has also been recognized by the National Forensic League, which has named the team a finalist in the national tournament.

The team's success is not only a source of pride for the school but also for the community. The team's success has inspired others to take up the art of debate and has helped to bring more attention to the school and its offerings. The team's success is a testament to the hard work and dedication of its members and to the support of the school and its community.

---

Debate From Page 1

Davie school's team cracks elite 200 club

By Scott Fishman
STAFF WRITER

The University School speech and debate team recently joined the ranks of the National Forensic League's elite 200 club. The honor is given to local schools that score 200 or more points in a debate tournament in any division. The school earned the honor in its first ever appearance in the tournament. The team has been working hard to achieve this milestone and has already earned a reputation for excellence in the league.

The team's success is due in part to the hard work of its members, who practice for hours each day. The team members are dedicated to their craft and are willing to put in the time and effort it takes to succeed. The team's success is also due to the support of the school, which has provided the team with the resources it needs to succeed. The team's success has also been recognized by the National Forensic League, which has named the team a finalist in the national tournament.

The team's success is not only a source of pride for the school but also for the community. The team's success has inspired others to take up the art of debate and has helped to bring more attention to the school and its offerings. The team's success is a testament to the hard work and dedication of its members and to the support of the school and its community.

---

Debate From Page 1

Davie school's team cracks elite 200 club

By Scott Fishman
STAFF WRITER

The University School speech and debate team recently joined the ranks of the National Forensic League's elite 200 club. The honor is given to local schools that score 200 or more points in a debate tournament in any division. The school earned the honor in its first ever appearance in the tournament. The team has been working hard to achieve this milestone and has already earned a reputation for excellence in the league.

The team's success is due in part to the hard work of its members, who practice for hours each day. The team members are dedicated to their craft and are willing to put in the time and effort it takes to succeed. The team's success is also due to the support of the school, which has provided the team with the resources it needs to succeed. The team's success has also been recognized by the National Forensic League, which has named the team a finalist in the national tournament.

The team's success is not only a source of pride for the school but also for the community. The team's success has inspired others to take up the art of debate and has helped to bring more attention to the school and its offerings. The team's success is a testament to the hard work and dedication of its members and to the support of the school and its community.